IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS OF THE WEEK

Summary of What has Just Occurred. Accidents and Incidents.

Otto Arrested.

About October 1st there appeared in Ukiah a young man of pleasing address, who introduced himself as Mr. Otto H. Mohr of the staff of Leslie's magazine. He said his pen name was M. Helmit Otto and he was a personal friend of "Mr. Dooley." He had formerly been connected with Munsey's magazine, but had gone over to Leslies on a higher salary. He was a graduate of Heidelburg University in Germany and made a specialty of short stories. He put up at the Palace hotel and soon formed many pleasant acquaintances among the prominent people of the town. The ladies especially thot Mr. Otto was a very nice young man, and he had the entree to some of the best homes. Incidentally he borrowed various sums from some of our well-to-do citizens and about November 15th he took his departure for San Francisco, stating that he would return in a few days. He failed to return and, after waiting a reasonable time, O. E. Williams, proprietor of the Palace hotel procured a warrant for his arrest as he left an unpaid board bill. The warrant was placed in the hands of Deputy Sheriff W. F. Ornbaun, who went to San Francisco but failed to find his man. A few days later Ornbaun returned to the city for another search and on Monday found Otto or Mohr at Golden Gate Park and arrested him. Otto was brot up Tuesday and locked up. Later he was taken before Justice Critchfield who fixed his bail at $500.

At 2 o'clock p. m. Wednesday the accused pleaded "not guilty," before Justice Critchfield, and his trial was set for next Monday. He is to have a jury trial.

Important Trial This Week.

On last Tuesday morning a jury was impanelled in the superior court to try the case of Mrs. Mary L. Douglas vs E. C. Horst. This is a case of a character often litigated in this State, and is of interest to every land owner.

The action is brot to compel the defendant, Horst, to remove a certain dam which he has constructed just inside his own lines, which it is alleged prevents the surface water from flowing in its natural course, forcing it back upon the lands of plaintiff to her damage. McNab & Hirsch represent the plaintiff and T. L. Carothers appears for defendant. Hugh Cox is the personal representative of Horst. The land of plaintiff which is alleged to be affected by the dam, is that occupied under lease by Vic McClure and Oscar Sanford. The question involved in this case has been a vexed one for many years and, altho there is a long line of decisions on the issue, they have been given under so great a variety of circumstances and facts that each case must stand on its own merits. The law has been plainly laid down by the courts, but that does not seem to prevent further litigation, "as circumstances alter cases."

The case was argued and submitted to the jury Thursday morning. In a very short time the jury returned into court with a verdict for Mrs. Douglas, the plaintiff.

Bears After Stock.

A recent dispatch from Covelo to the Call says: Black bears are playing havoc with stock in Northern Mendocino county. Dozens of cattle, sheep and hogs in the vicinity of the Bowman range have been devoured. James Ricks, a prominent sheep raiser, is the heaviest loser, the bears having killed 32 of his sheep and two Jersey cows. While Mr. Ricks was riding over his range yesterday he saw two large black bears eating the carcass of a cow they had just slain.

Stockmen have asked the local authorities to assist them in a general round-up of the bears. H. B. Bowman, the noted hunter, has, with his trained hounds, already captured twenty bears.

They Sawed Wood.

The representatives of the Quaker Medicine Company, who have been with us for the past two weeks, and have been giving entertainments at Mason's Opera House, have been well patronized. A part of the entertainment on last Friday evening consisted of a wood-sawing contest, by Ukiah ladies, for a prize of $5.

The following ladies contested for the prize: Miss Cora D. McNeill and Mesdames Wirt Acuff, W. F. McClure, C. O. Weller, T. A. Lucas and W. Stiff. The contest occasioned much merriment. Mrs. W. F. McClure was the successful one, and she celebrated her victory by vigorously clapping her hands.

INTERESTING ASYLUM CASE

Steward Jones Sues for Injunction Against Dr. King and Managers.

The DISPATCH has from time to time informed its readers of certain doings at the Mendocino State Hospital, by which it was sought to displace certain employes and attaches. One of these was W. G. Jones, the Steward. Jones was discharged by Medical Superintendent King, but he refnsed to vacate. An investigation by the Board of Managers followed, and Jones was sustained and reinstated. Soon afterwards two new members were appointed to the Board of Managers, and it is presumed that these new members gave Dr. King to understand that they would stand by him in again removing Mr. Jones. At any rate Mr. Jones was, a few days ago, again asked to resign, and, on his refusal, was summarily removed by Dr. King. E. J. Niles, of Los Angeles, was appointed to the stewardship and came on to assume his duties. It is supposed that this appointment was made at the dictation of Governor Gage.

Mr. Jones has now brot an action in the superior Court of this county for an injunction, restraining the medical superintendent and the Board of managers from removing or taking any steps toward removing him from the position of steward.

T. L. Carothers and J. C. Ruddock are Mr. Jones' attorneys. Judge Mannon has issued a temporary restraining order as prayed for and the position of steward will remain unfilled until the matter can be heard in court. The defendants have ten days from the date of service in which to answer or demur and the matter will then be set for hearing. The probabilities are that the trial will be a "hummer." At any rate when the case comes to trial the people will hear something of more than ordinary interest.

GLEANINGS AND GOSSIP

What Our Neighbors are Doing and Saying.

Interesting Items Epitomized by Our Hustling Reporters.

"As long as the river flows," Cupid will keep right on doing his duty, shooting his love-tipped arrows into the hearts of men and women. In the case of James Carmichael of Orr's Hot Springs and Miss Margaret Jane Cameron, of Navarro, their courtship culminated last Tuesday evening in a union of hands and lives as well as of hearts. At that time Justice Critchfield met the young couple at the Donahue House and said the glad but solemn words which made them one. The groom is 25 years old and is well known in this community. The bride has reached the delightful age of 19. The young couple have the congratulations of many friends.

Another Wedding.

There is good luck in getting married in Ukiah. At least that must be the opinion of candidates for hymeneal joys, for they come to our city from every direction to be yoked in connubial bliss. The latest event of kind occurred Wednesday night at the M. E. Church, South, parsonage when Rev. Coffin joined Mr. G. J. Vogelman and Miss E. L. Briggs in holy wedlock. The parties came up from Cloverdale Wednesday and took rooms at the Grand hotel. Their homes are in Ohio, but they have been visiting in this State for two years. The bride and groom are each 21 years old, there being only four days difference in age. A DISPATCH reporter found them to be very pleasant people, and hereby tenders congratulations.

The Cottaneva Fire.

WESTPORT, December 10.

On Saturday, the 8th inst., at about 3 p. m. a fire started in the Cottaneva Lumber Co.'s mill at Rockport, and in a few minutes the whole structure was in flames. At the time there was only three or four men around the mill, owing to there being a steamer loading lumber at the landing and the mill was not running, as the mill crew were helping to load the steamer. It is supposed the fire originated in the oil room, but nothing positive is known how or where it first started. The mill, blacksmith shop and other small buildings were a total loss, which is estimated at $40,000, and about 130 men thrown out of employment. Several hundred thousand feet of lumber was piled along the company's track and by great exertion it was all saved.

The amount of insurance is unknown to those having charge at the mill, but it is supposed to be small if any. The manager, W. J. Rogers, of San Jose, is on his way now to investigate the affair, when it will probably be decided about rebuilding again or not. There was no one killed, burned, crippled or lost, as reported from Covelo.

WILLIAM DUNN.

[We thank Mr. Dunn for this plain and evidently true account of the unfortunate fire at Cottaneva.—ED.]

J. E. Gannon's large hop house near Sebastopol was burned to the ground Wednesday night. There were no hops in the store room. Loss about $2000.

Additional Local.

Mrs. Sarah Spencer, of Potter Valley, was in town Sunday and Monday to attend to probate business.

Burnham Ball and Geo. Clow, two jolly good farmers of Boonville, came over Monday to act as grand jurors.

Tom Long and Jake Wattenburger came down from Covelo Sunday to attend to business at the county seat.

Live, energetic man can get good contract as District or Special Agent for Life Insurance Co. established 50 years. "Insurance" Room 21, 431 Cal. St., S. F., Cal. d14t4

E. P. Gillmore came over from Point Arena Sunday to do duty as garand juror for awhile.

The roof of the Hall of Records has been nicely repainted.

Mrs. T. C. Cooper and Mrs. J. C. Hensley came up from Cloverdale Wednesday.

Deputy Attorney-General Geo. A. Sturtevant came up from San Francisco yesterday. Next Sunday he and Miss Pearl Fine, Ukiah's talented artist, are to be married.

Another Contract Let.

The California & Northwestern Railway Company have signed a contract with Muir Brothers & Muir for the grading of another ten miles of track on the northern extention of their road. The work will go right on as the weather permits. good progress has been made this far. The track has been laid and construction trains are running to and beyond Calpella. This is doing well, considering the number and length of bridges and trestles it was necessary to build to get out of this valley.

ASSEMBLYMAN MELLICK VISITS UKIAH.

W. S. Mellick, editor of the Pasadena News, and Assemblyman from the 70th district, visited Ukiah Sunday afternoon and Monday morning. This makes Mellick's third term in the legislature, and he naturally expects to be chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

His visit to this city was to look into asylum matters so that if made Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, he would be in a position to act intelligently on matters. He has already visited San Quentin and a number of other State institutions and is making diligent inquiry into the management of all of them.

Mr. Mellick visited the DISPATCH office and passed a few moments in pleasant conversation "talking over old times." He was well impressed with Ukiah and the surrounding country.

Attorney T. J. Weldon.

T. J. Weldon, the popular manager of the Great Eastern Department Store, surprised his many friends the first of the week by slipping away to the city and taking the examination before the Supreme Court Commissioners for admission to the bar. Jack was successful and passed a very creditable examination. There were 33 candidates for admission, 22 being successful.

Mr. Weldon was for many years under sheriff of the county and had the opportunity of learning practical law. He resigned as under sheriff last spring and accepted the position with I. Rudee & Co., which he still holds. The general public were not aware that Jack was studying law until he was admitted to practice. Mr. Weldon will continue in his present position for a time before hanging out his shingle. He possesses the elements of making a safe business lawyer and the DISPATCH joins his many friends in wishing him success at the bar.

THE SPORTING WORLD.

Antonio Fanagi Coutalianos, the Greek strong man and wrestler, is now in New York and is ready to meet all comers in the weight lifting line and is especially anxious to arrange a Greco-Roman wrestling bout with Ernest Roeber for the world's championship.

Coutalianos is a native of Athens and has traveled in almost every country of the world. His record shows that he is one of the greatest strong men in the world and that he has few equals at wrestling.

Among the best men who have been defeated by him are the Italian champion, Paul Reperto; the Spanish champion, Stellins, and Semun, the sultan's best man, whom he vanquished in Constantinople. Coutalianos also made a clean sweep of Chile, meeting all comers and defeating Surgiano, Pinakia, Cristilo and Callistro, the best men of that country.

Coutalianos' chief feats of strength are the lifting of 2,200 pounds, with harness; lifting a 400 pound ball in each hand, and the lifting of three cannons, which are strapped to him and fired off while he holds them in the air.

Baseball Talk.

There are renewed expressions of belief in all quarters that the attempt of the American Baseball league to get into Washington and Baltimore will be a success. Some experts go so far as to say that President Brush of the Cincinnati team, who is at the head of the eastward movement, will take on Louisville as well in the face of the National league's opposition. And there are several facts in favor of the opinion. It will be remembered that when the National league reduced the number of cities in its circuit to eight by dropping Louisville, Cleveland, Baltimore and Washington the magnates expected a great boom in baseball, but it did not come. Instead these worthy magnates lost a lot of money, and they have been sitting on their heels for the need of chairs ever since.

The theory that these cities would not support minor league teams, which was evolved at the time of the reduction of the circuit, has been exploded this season by the success of the Cleveland team of the Western league. This has caused the capitalists to believe in Brush's scheme, and his chances of success are greatly improved. It is true that the grounds at these four cities are still under the control of the National league, but the minor league teams will still have playing room there, for with capital Brush can secure other grounds, and besides that the National league can hardly afford to increase its circuit to the original 12 clubs.

An Important Shooting Fixture.

One of the most important shooting events of the year is that which will take place at St. Thomas, Ont., on Nov. 13, 14, 15 and 16. To all intents and purposes it will be an international affair, as the best shots of Canada and this country have entered for it. The event is Tom Donley's fourth annual handicap tournament, and this year it will be managed by Jack Parker, the Canadian trap shooter. One of the most interesting features of the shoot will be the contest for the Gillman Barnes trophy which is now held by Edward Bates. This match will take place on the first day along with six other events. Besides, there will be 12 other live bird and blue rock target events. The Donley trophy will become the personal property of the winner this year. The aggregate value of the purses that will be offered in the handicap this year is $1,300. The handicap committee is as follows: E. D. Trip, Indianapolis; Emil Werk, Cincinnati; John Parker, Detroit; Bob Emslie, St. Thomas; Benjamin Norton, New York city; Dr. S. E. Overbolt, Hamilton, Ont.

Big Earnings of a Fighter.

While a crowd of sports were recently discussing the question as to who was the wealthiest fighter Sam Harris, manager of Terry McGovern, spoke up and said: "Well, I can't say who has the most money, but I know one thing. McGovern can sit right down at this present moment and write out his check for $50,000. I don't think there are many of them who can do that." And McGovern has made this amount in less than three years.

Intercollegiate Basket Ball.

The colleges have taken up basket ball, and an intercollegiate league is about to be formed. It will include Yale, Harvard, Cornell and Dartmouth. The season of the new league will open on Dec. 1, after the officers have been elected and the winter schedule made out. The Yale team will visit Chicago and Minneapolis for a series of games in each city in the Christmas holidays.

An average of 422 murders have been committed in California each year during the last decade. This seems large, but it is not the largest. Texas overtops each of the States with an annual average of 1,021. The average for all the States together is 10,000. What a comment on civilization is this! New York, Texas and Alabama are the only States that exceed California. The other States run all the way from 6 in Vermont to 408 in Tennessee.

The Senate has confirmed the appointment of Hon. Marion DeVries as a member of the U. S. Board of General Appraisers, and every Democrat in the Senate voted for confirmation. This should be an effectual rebuke to the few Democrats in California who, at the State Convention, assailed Mr. DeVries as having betrayed his party for an appintment. The Democratic Senators know Marion DeVries, his work in Congress and the manner in which his appointment was obtained and they have the utmost confidence in his integrity and his Democracy.

A Georgia editor gave a subscriber who kept his subscription paid up the following send-off when he died: "Poor Jim Brown slung his earthly garments on a limb and swam the river yesterday. He didn't stand back because the weather was cold but plunged right in and rose smiling and struck out for the other shore where the angels were waiting for him with a finer suit than he ever wore in his life. Jim was a poor man, but he had his subscription to his home paper paid up and he got there in great shape."

WHAT IS CAPITAL.

Capital is that from which revenue may be derived. Commonly speaking it is value reserved from permanent expenditure, kept, manipulated, invested or operated with for the purpose of producing an increase of value or a subsistence to the owner or possessor thereof. Inactive or hoarded wealth is not capital in the true sense. It is that which may be made capital, but, while hoarded, it is not performing the functions of capital. When a man hoards or secludes his wealth; withdraws it from the channels of productiveness, he ceases to be a useful citizen. As there can be no cessation of consumption, a cessation of production would bring death, decay and final obliteration. Therefore, capital, to be of any use, must be actively employed and intelligently directed. Money, bonds and material property are not the only nor the most useful capital. The capacity to labor is capital, and it is par excellence THE capital without which there can be no progress. Each man capable of performing average labor has an available capital of ten thousand dollars value.

Statisticians have placed the average revenue of this capital at six per cent. Every man, therefore, who performs the average of labor, ought to receive an annual revenue or income of $600. Carefully prepared statistics show that if all who are capable of laboring, would work intelligently four hours per day, enough would be produced to supply all the wants of the world. But this, like all other capital, must be employed to be useful. Every unemployed man represents ten thousand dollars of dead capital. Being consumers, they are a burden upon the capital of some one else, or upon the public. The greatest problem confronting economists to-day, and demanding equitable solution, is how the capital which inheres in labor can be made uniformly and generally available for its intended use.

IN HUMANITY'S INTEREST.

The class in advanced arithmatic will please take the floor:

Question—There was once a wicked ruler who set out to enlarge his dominions. In the language of one of the greatest statesman of that day, who did not favor the new policy, this wicked ruler bought 10,000,000 niggers at $2 a head—"in the interest of humanity."

After the bargain had been struck, it was discovered that the buyer was entitled to only a quitclaim deed and that the case would have to be taken into the war courts to quiet title.

Instead of proceeding against the swindler who had successfully passed a "gold brick for $20,000,000, the ruler who was bent on enlarging his dominions sent 70,000 armed attorneys against the chattels that he had purshased at $2 a head.

After the case had been on the calendar for about two or three years, it was found that a large number of attorneys had been slain and that the litigation was costing at the rate of $200,000,000 a year. At the same time the attorneys had destroyed the lives of thousands of chattels that had cost $2 apiece.

Taking the sum of $20,000,000 paid for the niggers and adding it to the ultimate cost of exterminating the same, you have the final cost in money. Multiplying by the rate of humanity's interest and dividing the result among 80,000,000 people, the proposition is to find a dividend that a Christian ought to accept.

UKIAH, HOME OF VENUS.

By N. B. KIRTLEY.

When from Olympus' lofty peak,
Fate banished the immortal race
Of gods, fair Venus long did seek
A fitting home, a resting place.
Vain was her search till led by love,
Of mountain scenes and gurgling streams
In fair Ukiah's sylvan grove
She found what she had sought, it seems.
True, here she found but dusky maids
With raven locks and dull dark eyes;
"But this I soon will change," she said
"Here beauty's rarest forms shall rise"
Time's rapid feet ran on apace
While beauty's goddess wrought her spell;
The children of another race
Possessed the land, in wood and dell
Commingled with the song of bird
And rippling music of the spring,
Childhood's sweet prattle now was heard
And winsome laughter's joyous ring.
Now Venus full employment found;
Congenial 'twas, and full of joy.
From home to home she flitted 'round,
Attended by her winged boy.
She touched each daughter with her wand
And said, "be beautiful;" her touch
Was magic, and her hand
Gave form almost divine to such
As felt its influence, and they
Were many. Scores indeed there were
Of maids and matrons, whose display
Of beauteous charms was rich and rare.
Some she made Sylph-like, others Hebe-like were,
And others still bore Juno's proudest mein.
Brunettes were some and other some were fair,
But in each face or form some charm was seen.
And so, more beauteous do our maidens shine
In blest Ukiah's fair secluded vale
Than elsewhere in the earth. To the divine
And lovely Venus, let us say, "all hail!"

Story of a Slave.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst orm of slavery. George D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich, tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she was wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, run down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50 cents. Sold by J. R. Mathews, City Pharmacy

The Rader Lecture.

Rev. Wm. Rader of San Francisco will lecture in the Presbyterian church on next Thursday evening, December 20. This will be the second in the series of lectures arranged for by Rev. D. M. Gillies. Mr. Rader is an orator of wide reputation. His services are in almost constant requisition both in San Francisco and in other parts of the State. Last summer he traveled extensively in Europe, and in the course of his travels made a special study of some of the peculiar institutions of European countries. The result of his researches along that line he gives in the lecture to be delivered on the date above mentioned. He takes for his theme, "John and Jonathan." The lecture promises to be a rare intellectual treat. All should avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing it. Single tickets are sold for 50 cents. People desirous of hearing both Mr. Rader and President Jordan, the latter coming early in January, may procure tickets for both lectures at the rate of 75 cents. Reserved seats for sale at Hook's Shoe Store. 2

Campbell Divorce Case.

The action for divorce of D. M. Campbell vs. Louisa Campbell came on for trial in the superior court Thursday. The complaint charges cruel treatment and desertion, and the specifications allege improper conduct on the part of the defendant in her relations with one William Lewis, and that finally she left the home of plaintiff and went to Idaho.

After hearing the testimony the court granted a decree of divorce, and adjudged that the property was all community property. The court suggested that the property be sold and the proceeds divided. No custody of the children was awarded.

How To Cure Croup.

Mr. R. Gray, who lives near Amenia, Duchess county, N. Y., says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best medicine I have ever used. It is a fine children's remedy for croup and never fails to cure." When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough has developed, it will prevent the attack. This should be borne in mind and a bottle of the Cough Remedy kept at hand ready for instant use as soon as these symptoms appear. For sale by all dealers.

SPOTS AND STAINS.

How They May Be Removed Without Injuring the Fabrics.

Stains upon silk or stuff or a fancy frock beyond laundry possibilities may be got rid of thus: Fold a cheesecloth square thickly and lay it smooth upon the board. Over that stretch the stained stuff smoothly, right side down. If there is a lining, rip it so as to get at the underside. But first brush, not only the stain, but the whole garment thoroughly, so as to remove all the invisible dust and prevent the cleansing from leaving an ugly circle, worse than the spot itself. Pour a little alcohol through the spot and dab the place hard with a soft, clean rag. Shift the spot over a fresh place on the cheesecloth and pour on more alcohol, using just enough to drench the spot itself without spreading. Do this two or three times, then look on the right side.

Greasy and resinous spots, as those of machine oil, wagon greese, tar, pine and cedar resins, ought to be also cleaned right side down on the folded cloth. Wet them first with the alcohol, next very plentifully with turpentine and last of all with benzine. Between each wetting shift the spots over a clean space. Pour everything in a very small but steady stream, so it shall go right through the spot, but not much outside it. After wetting rub hard a minute with a soft rag. When the cloth underneath shows white, turn the spot over and wipe the right side quickly with a clean rag wet in alcohol. Dry quickly in the sun if possible. Let the garment air for six hours, then cover the spots, upon the wrong side, with a damp, not a wet, cloth and press with a very hot iron. If the spots want stiffening, dip a toothbrush lightly in gum arabic, hold it six inches above the wrong side of the cloth and pass the finger across it, so as to spatter the gum in fine spray where it will do the most good; then let the garment lie a few minutes before ironing.

Floss Vaughan, who has been in business here for several years, and who has very efficiently filled the office of City Treasurer, has decided to move to Fort Bragg where he will conduct a variety store. We recommend him to the Fort Braggers as a worthy man.

Attorney Lester H. Jacobs, of San Francisco, was in town Thursday in connection with the case of Marks vs. Sladky, to ask for a continuance.

It Saved His Leg.

P A. Danforth, of LaGrange, Ga., suffered intensely for six months with a frightful running sore on his leg, but writes that Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured it in ten days. For Ulcers, Wounds, Burns, Boils, Pain or Piles. It's the best salve in the world Cure guaranteed. Only 25 cents Sold by J. R. Mathews City Pharmacy.

HOW TO CHOOSE BEEF.

Rules That May Be of Value to the Household Purveyor.

Let us imagine ourselves before a butcher's block having on it four pieces of beef presenting faces from the round or sirloin, says The Woman's Home Companion. One is dull red, the lean being close grained and the fat very white. The next is dark red, the lean loose grained and sinewy and the fat white and shining. The third is dull red, the lean loose grained and sinewy and the fat yellow. The fourth is bright cherry red, the lean smooth and medium grained, with flecks of white through it, and the fat creamy, neither white nor yellow.

The first of these is cow beef, the second bull beef, the third beef from an old or ill conditioned animal, and the last is ox beef. Ox beef—that from a steer—is the juiciest, finest flavored, sweetest and most economical to buy of all beef. It is called "prime" when the lean is very much mottled with the white fat flecks, and when it is from a heavy young animal (about 4 years old) stall fed on corn. Beef from a young cow that has been well fed and fattened is next in merit to ox beef. Beef from an unmatured animal is never satisfactory, being tough and juiceless. It may be easily recognized, as its color is pale and its bones small.

How to Make Cannelons.

Take one pound of any scraps of cold meat you may have in the larder and mince it very fine. Mix with it half a pound of chopped raw or cold ham or bacon, two tablespoonfuls of bread crumbs, two teaspoonfuls of chopped parsley, half a teaspoonful of chopped shallot or onion, salt and pepper. Beat up one egg, add it to the dry ingredients and mix well. If it does not bind it enough and it crumbles, add more egg or a little good, thick gravy. Turn the mass on to a board and divide it equally into eight portions. Make each into a little roll, like a jam rolly poly, using a little flour if necessary. Wrap each roll up in a piece of buttered paper, then lay on a baking tin and bake rather slowly for about 30 or 40 minutes.

How to Make Turnip Soup.

Smooth over the fire in a saucepan one heaped tablespoon of flour and a little less butter. Then add by degrees three scant pints of milk, and let boil up well. Add a level teaspoon of salt, a dozen flakes of red pepper pod and a quarter of a saltspoonful of grated nutmeg Now stir in well a teacup of cooked and finely mashed turnip and serve.

How to Wash Black Stockings.

Do not use soap, but put a teacupful of bran in a muslin bag and shake it about in tepid water. Wash the stockings in this, take them out, roll them in a clean cloth, wringing them well, and dry as quickly as possible. If washed in this way, the stockings will keep a good black instead of turning brown.

How to Make Russian Kromeskies.

Cut some very thin slices of bacon, lay them flat and place a little carefully minced meat on each. Season with salt, pepper and a little mace, roll tightly and put aside in a cool place. Dip into batter, fry a golden brown and garnish with parsley.

COUGHS KILL

We know of nothing better than coughing to tear the lining of your throat and lungs. It is better than wet feet to cause bronchitis and pneumonia. Only keep it up and you will succeed in reducing your weight, losing your appetite, bringing on a slow fever, and making everything exactly right for the germs of consumption. Better kill your cough before it kills you.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

kills coughs of every kind. A 25 cent bottle is just right for an ordinary cough; for the harder coughs of bronchitis you will need a 50 cent bottle; and for the coughs of consumption the one dollar size is most economical.

"My cough reduced me to a mere skeleton. I tried many remedies, but they all failed. After using the Cherry Pectoral I immediately began to improve, and three bottles restored me to health. I believe I owe my life to it."
SARAH F. MORGAN,
Oct. 7, 1898. Browntown, Va.

How to Cook Soft Clams.

Select the large white shell clams, wash thoroughly in cold salted water to free them from sand and open carefully. Wash the deep half of each shell again and place the clams on them. Lay in a large baking pan, pour a little melted butter over each clam, dust with fine cracker crumbs, and season with salt and a dash of red pepper. Lay a slice of smoked bacon an inch square on each clam, put the pan in the oven and bake until a rich brown. Serve with quarters of lemon.

How to Make Wine of Beef and Iron.

To make wine of beef and iron, take four grams of citrate of iron, dissolve in a cup of hot water; add to half a jar of beef extract, dissolved in a cup of hot water, and when these are mixed add one pint of sherry wine.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. POTTER ITEMS.

POMO, December 11.

Seeing nothing in your newsy sheet from this part of the county lately, I will send you a few items.

The weather for the past few days has been very chilly and damp the fog hardly raising above the mountain tops all day, seeding is nearly thru and grain that is up looks unusually healthy.

The doctors are having an easy time of it now as most of the sick have recovered.

Mrs. Ella Lindser closed the fall term of school in Union District last Friday, a week ago, with an entertainment which did herself and the scholars much credit.

While we can't see the train running from Ukiah up, we can hear the whistle very distinct and often hear the train running.

The Company's store is doing a fine business; fresh goods and new merchandise are being added almost daily. Mr. Barnett, the manager, and his estimable wife are the right persons in the right place.

The A. O. U. W. Lodge will give a banquet on December 22, when ice cream and cake, coffee and sandwiches will be served.

Dr. Basford, of Healdsburg, is doing some dental work here this week.

Willie Hopper, who has been working in the flouring mill here, took his departure for Willits last week and now the girls are going about looking sad and lonely. Come back, Willie, and restore that broken heart.

The ladies of the M. E. Church will hold a bazar at Grangers' Hall on December 20 and 21, where many nice Christmas presents may be purchased. George Raymond says a nickel in the hand is worth dollars in the woods.

Last Monday morning J. M. Stone was out before daylight, whistling with the larks; and soon John Thornton of Ukiah put in an appearance with a smile on his face that reached to his shoe soles. We ventured to ask the cause of all this hilarity and was promptly told that 15 tons of flour had been sold in the last day or so and the mill would start right away, more wheat purchased and the flour would be, as before, the best in the State.

Put 9 heads of Savoy cabbage into a kettle of boiling water and cover. Put it where it will keep hot (just simmering) for 30 minutes. Drain and chop fine. Season with a tablespoonful of butter, a tablespoonful of salt and one-fourth of a saltspoonful of white pepper. Press into small molds, stand the molds in hot water for 15 minutes. Turn on a hot platter and serve with white sauce. Cabbage cooked slowly in this way will be white and delicate.

How to Remove Grease From Cloth.

A gown that sees much wear is apt to become greasy. Get prepared French chalk—every tailor uses it—and rub thoroughly into the spot. After the chalk has remained in the goods for several hours dust it out. This generally removes the grease. Alcohol and salt, when applied with a sponge or flanned rag, will take out grease. Dissolve one tablespoonful of salt in four tablespoonfuls of alcohol, then use when needed.

How to Save the Face.

The times which are particularly trying on the complexion are the ironing days, the baking days and the preserving season. To protect the skin under such circumstances as these, anoint the face well with cold cream or olive oil, wipe off lightly and then dust with powdered starch or rice flour, a little bag of which should always have a place among the toilet articles of the family.

How to Make English Hash.

Take a good cupful of rather coarsely chopped meat—"left overs" of any kind of cooked meat—and season with a half teaspoonful of onion juice, a small tablespoonful of any kind of catchup, four shakes of pepper and the same of salt unless meat and gravy have been previously salted, in which case omit it. Simmer ten minutes in a cupful of good gravy. Serve on toast.

How to Renovate Scorched Linen.

A poor ironer is one of the trials of housekeeping. Scorched clothes are often discarded as hopeless, but if not too much burned may be made all right by the patient use of onion juice. Bake the onion and squeeze out the juice. Mix it with an ounce of fuller's earth, a little shredded soap and a wineglassful of vinegar. Heat the mixture till the soap is dissolved. Then wait till it is cold before applying. Rub it well over the scorched place, leave to dry and then put the garment in the regular washing.

How to Make Rice Savory.

Four ounces of rice, four ounces grated cheese, one ounce of butter, half an ounce of flour, half a pint of milk or water rice was boiled in, salt, cayenne pepper and a little made mustard if liked. Boil the rice in water. Melt the butter in a saucepan, add the flour and mix well, put in milk or rice water stir till the sauce boils, then add the rice and season well. Stir three ounces of grated cheese into the rice and pour all into a buttered pie dish. Sprinkle the rest of the cheese on the top, brown in a hot oven.

Tears

Many a woman has periodic crying spells. She meets her husband with eyes red and swollen and he cries out: "What has happened?" "Nothing" his wife replies. "I don't know what is the matter with me, but I just had to have a good cry." Men don't have crying spells. It would seem therefore that an affection confined to women must have its cause in the womanly nature. There is no doubt that a diseased condition of the delicate womanly organs, is in general responsible for feminine nervousness and hysteria.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes women happy by making them healthy. There are no more crying spells. "Favorite Prescription" cures inflammation, ulceration and female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

There is no medicine "just as good." Accept no substitute.

"For three years," writes Mrs. Mary A. Sasser, of High, Lamar Co., Texas, "I suffered with falling of the womb, also ulceration of the womb. After using three bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription,' four of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two vials of 'Pleasant Pellets,' I found relief. I am able to do my work with ease. I recommend your wonderful medicine to all my friends, for I truly believe it saved my life."

Free. Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only. Cloth binding 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

LATE IRRIGATION.

Storing Water In the Soil With Which to Mature Summer Crops.

The soil itself may be used as a storage reservoir. The possibility of storing water in the soil is becoming better understood, and the practice is rapidly becoming more general. In parts of Kansas it has been found possible to store enough water in the soil by winter irrigation to mature the summer's crops. There are large ranches in Wyoming with a limited supply of water on which the irrigation water is systematically spread over the hay land in the winter to supply moisture to the coming crop. Such practice enables the owner to double the amount of meadow from which he can put up hay, as the land supplied with moisture in the winter is not irrigated during the summer months and the summer supply is used on separate areas.

The value of conserving the moisture on fruit lands by mulches through the winter has long been understood and is widely practiced, and the value of winter irrigation for orchards is no longer questioned. In the arid region the winters are long and dry, there is no continuous mulch of snow, and the orchardist who cannot irrigate late in the fall or occasionally through the winter is unfortunate.

The value of irrigating alfalfa in the fall has been tested by the Wyoming experiment station. Alfalfa irrigated late in the season, Oct. 2 and 3, 1895, did not winter kill as badly as that not irrigated. The quantity cannot be stated accurately, but as nearly as can be estimated enough was used to cover the land six inches deep. The plants which were fall irrigated started earlier in the spring and made better growth, at one time being four to five inches higher than those not so irrigated, and the dividing line marked by the water could be traced up to the time of the first cutting in 1896. In spite of the fact that evaporation was sufficient to remove nearly or quite all of this water during the winter months its influence was felt far into the next growing season.

On land which is used for the production of cultivated crops where the surface soil can be stirred frequently to prevent the loss of water by evaporation winter irrigation is far more effective than on grass land. In parts of California water supplied the land during the winter or wet season is often sufficient to mature crops, though they may not receive any water between planting and harvesting. In such places complete and continuous cultivation is practiced to prevent the soil from losing its store of moisture through evaporation. Where water is stored in this way for the coming crop it is necessary to conserve the moisture by continually stirring the surface to form a natural mulch which will prevent evaporation.—B. C. Buffum.

Apple Pits or Caves.

The primitive methods of underground storage have the merit of being inexpensive and serviceable under some farm conditions, though not well adapted to orcharding on an extensive scale. Such pits or caves vary, of course, in details of construction, but a description of a Kansas cave will illustrate the general principle of the class. Such a cave is usually constructed on a hillside sloping toward the north, so that the entrance is protected from the southwest winds that prevail during summer and autumn. In moist soils the cave must be walled. In dry soils no walls are required. Upright posts along the sides support the top, which is made of poles. Over the poles is a layer of coarse hay, and over the hay soil to the depth of two feet. Several flues are made for ventilation. Such a cave may be built any desired dimensions. Some are being planned with doors in each end and large enough to allow a passageway for a wagon through them. The best system of ventilation and the most even and desirable temperature can be maintained by use of an underground ventilation pipe leading from an opening in the floor of the cave to a similar opening on the surface of the ground several rods away. The pipe should be large enough to provide sufficient air for the cave and should have valves at each opening to regulate the supply. The air in passing through the pipe is cooled in summer and warmed in winter and thus brought to near the proper temperature for good results in keeping fruit. To complete the system several flues should lead through the top of the cave to the open air above. The sum of the capacities of these flues should at least be equal to the capacity of the ventilator leading into the cave.

A KANSAS APPLE CAVE.

Drilling Grain.

The Minnesota experiment station tried for several years drilled wheat by the side of wheat sown broadcast. These were field tests on considerable areas, and they found as an average that the drilled wheat yielded 50 per cent more than that which was broadcasted. The results were most marked in seasons when the soil was dry, as the seeds were well covered at a uniform depth by the drill, and thus germinated more freely and evenly.
